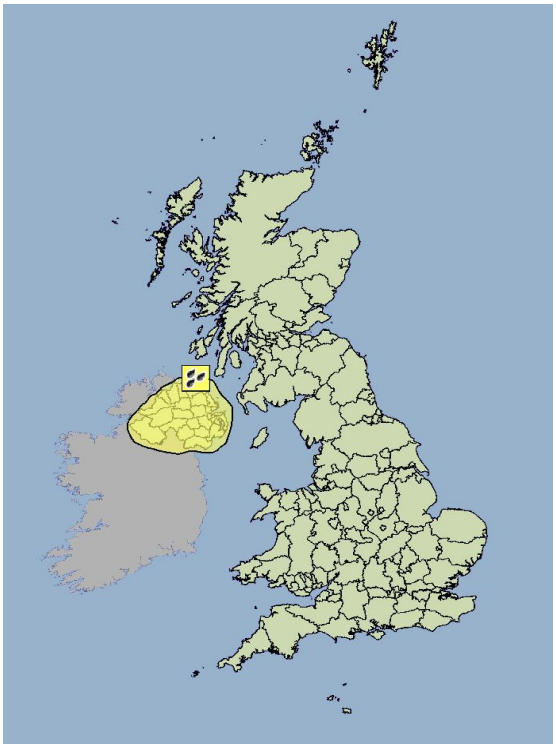
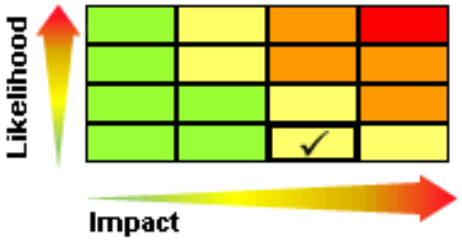
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
An area of heavy rain is likely to move north into Northern Ireland on Monday and become slow-moving and last into the early part of Tuesday. 15-25 mm of rain is likely widely, with locally 40-60 mm possible in the east.

In addition, several cms of snow could accumulate over higher routes. It is possible that some wet snow may fall to lower levels for a time, although it is unlikely to accumulate.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 09:00 on Mon, 02nd Apr 2018 until 09:00 on Tue, 03rd Apr 2018

Headline: Widespread rain and some hill snow is expected. Rain possibly heavy in the east. Travel may be affected.
What To Expect: There is a small chance that homes and businesses could be flooded, causing damage to some buildings.
There is a chance of delays or cancellations to train and bus services.
Spray and flooding could lead to difficult driving conditions and some road closures.
